

Sketches

Asiya Rizvi

Public Park in the City

I can envision a giant pot in the middle of a park in a city. More specifically, inside of a rotary-like pathway. The boiling pot would be a sort of fountain that sprays water from the center.